Sunday, Sept. 11, is Patriot Day. This year marks the 15th anniversary of the terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center, the Pentagon and the selfless actions of the passengers of Flight 93. In honor of all the victims and first responders who lost their lives on Sept. 11, 2001, Patriot Day is designated as a solemn reminder of the cost of freedom and our country's resilience. It is important as Americans and as a school that we tell the story, share the images and reflect on such a pivotal event in our nation's history.

Freedom is not free. It comes at great cost for those who serve our country as first responders and those who serve in our military to protect and seek justice.

Take time to watch the commemorative services on TV or on-line; see the pictures and videos that tell the story. Talk with a family member who remembers that day and how our country came together in the days after to recover. Thank you to everyone who remembered their red, white and blue today in honor of all American patriots, past and present.

Please join me in a moment of silence.
