

Return to In-Person Instruction

Southern is planning to return to hybrid, in-person instruction on Tuesday, January 19. The option for students to remain all virtual will also continue. For those who are hybrid, we will resume use of the A/B hybrid calendar. (Note that January 19 is an A day.)

Within this return there will be an operational change. All instruction for hybrid and virtual students will be real-time synchronous. All students will follow her or his regular class schedule. Students who are not attending in-person will be required to login to each Google Classroom at the time of the regularly scheduled instructional period. Below is the instructional period schedule that will resume on January 19.

A primary reason Southern successfully accomplished 66 days of in-person instruction prior to the current pause was the quality and transparency with which families reported COVID+ cases and close contact determinations. In preparation for the January 19 in-person reopening, it is requested that reporting resumes even while in this current pause mode so as to inform anticipated in-person enrollment and attendance data.
